

CorVel Corporation ODS Tower, Suite 1400

Portland, Oregon
Completion: November 18, 2007

FAST STATS

- CorVel Portland Data Center move containing over 500 pieces of high valued information technology equipment including high-end imaging systems, servers, routers, backup power supplies and racks totaling over $5 million.
- The continuity and timing were absolutely critical. Starting on Friday night at 5:00 PM with the de-installation and delivery of all equipment plus re-racking the equipment with a deadline, speed of delivery, high tech experienced crews, no damage and detailed emergency backup contingency plans.
- Relocation was delivered a day ahead of schedule, under budget, with no damage due to a total team effort between CorVel Project Managers and the Lile Office and Business Relocation team.

Overview

Moving a large data center is one of the most challenging types of business relocations. Not only is the equipment expensive and can be easily damaged, but the timing of the move is critical in order to minimize downtime and disruption of normal business. On July 18th 2007, CorVel Corporation issued an RFP for the relocation of a highly sensitive data center move with a value over 5 million dollars. CorVel Corporation sent the RFP to five companies in the Portland Metro market. Lile's Office and Business Relocation division won the business based on their ability to meet all of the RFP requirements, cost-effectiveness, and experience in moving high-value equipment.

Lile's Project Management team worked hand-in-hand with CorVel's technical staff to plan the timing and transition of the data center. Thorough labeling of all equipment and detailed planning including move time, order, and final rack destination resulted in a perfectly executed move. Each truck accounted for an exact inventory of equipment that was tracked by piece, cart number, cart location, security wrap and a sign off sheet by piece, cart, shelf unit number and truck ID number. The result was a perfectly executed plan by both CorVel and Lile Office and Business Relocation. 100% of the project goals were met, the move was completed one day early and 17% under budget.

Whether it is a small office move or a complex, multi-site, large office move with sensitive equipment, Lile's Office and Business Relocation services are your trusted source for on-time and on-budget move. Our job is to take care of your move so you can focus on your business.
